

CME Credits and MOC Points for ATS 2024

INSTRUCTIONS FOR CLAIMING CME CREDIT:

You will be able to evaluate and claim CME credit from now until Friday, June 28, 2024 via our evaluation portal accessed via this link:

www.xpressreg.net/register/thor0524/evaluations.asp

To claim CME credit, complete these three steps:

1. Attend the CME-eligible activity. The designation of AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™ is listed in the conference program for applicable sessions.
2. Complete a short evaluation for each session for which you desire credit. Attendance alone is not sufficient.
3. Complete a short ATS Conference-wide evaluation.
4. Attest to the credits earned through the activity and print your certificate. Don't forget to save or email yourself a PDF of your certificate for your records.

If you have any questions about the CME, please contact an ATS staff member at education@thoracic.org

INSTRUCTIONS FOR CLAIMING MOC POINTS:

Although the pre-test is closed, all is not lost! Feel free to attend as many MOC designated courses as possible to earn the maximum number of MOC points! The pre-test is great but optional.

To claim MOC, complete these steps:

1. During ATS 2024: Attend any MOC designated symposia you are interested in. Except for any Post-Graduate Courses, advance registration is not required.
2. Follow the steps to claim CME credit as listed above- the link to the site is the same as above!
3. After ATS 2024: Take the knowledge-based posttest. Posttests for all MOC-eligible symposia will be available on Wednesday, May 22, 2024 and attendees through Friday, June 28, 2024.
